

Tom C. Hamar, B. Com., CA.

CURRICULUM VITAE

Tom is a principal in D&H Group LLP, a firm of Chartered Accountants and has been providing professional services with the firm since 1983.

Tom's professional background was founded upon a solid background in income tax and information systems consulting. These have been applied to a wide variety of privately held local businesses; primarily in the construction, service and manufacturing sectors.

Internally, Tom is the principal in charge of Professional Training. One of the outcomes of this function is ensuring that the firm is current in all accounting and auditing matters. This has led to Tom developing a special interest in providing assurance services to junior public companies; primarily in the resource exploration sector.

Representative Experience:

- Provided tax and business advice on a major shareholders' agreement
- Acted as an advisor on a matrimonial matters involving the separation of business interests
- Assisted in the planning of a business succession to adult children; some of whom were active in the business and others who were not
- Participated, as auditor, on the "going public" prospectus
- Acted as an advisor to the developer of a golf course project in the Lower Mainland from the initial land acquisition through to zoning matters, financing and marketing.

Professional Activities

- Member of a Tax study group for over 25 years
- Past lecturer for the Institute of Chartered Accountants of British Columbia

Hobbies

- Guitar ("you are never too old to rock & roll"), woodworking, and golf.